AT LAST.

She let her hand be taken, and with confidence unshaken he tried his best to waken in her heart some sentiment.

With a wonderful burst of feeling round her waist his arm was stealing, yet her face showed no revealing of her mind's ingenuous bent.

His voice, quite low and pleading, for himself was interesting, but the maiden paid no heeding to the words that he might say.

And no lover persevering ever had so dumb a hearing to his terms of love endearing as she gave to him that day.

Until his chance he waited with a guile premeditated, and with cheek unmitigated up and kissed her. Then she cried:

"There, you monster! I just knew it! I was sure or quite near to it, if I waited you would do it. Now I hope you're satisfied."

BRADLEY FOR GOVERNOR.

A Mountain Send-off for Colonel W. O. Bradley as the Republican Leader.

JACKSON, KY., May 12th, 1894.
Editor of the Ledger: The present condition of the country shows that the election of Grover Cleveland with those principles which he represents, was a serious mistake, and that the American people propose to correct it at the first opportunity. Is it not time that Kentucky should burst asunder the shackles that have so long bound her to the blind traditions of the past? In the next Gubernatorial election Kentucky will sound the initial gun in the campaign of 1896. Who will be our standard-bearer in that memorable contest? This is the question that should command the serious consideration of every Republican in the state.

Could their wishes now be recorded, it would be safe to say that an overwhelming majority would decide in favor of Hon. W. O. Bradley. Unquestionably a more able, faithful or acceptable man could not be found within the bounds of this proud old Commonwealth to grace the halls of the Executive Mansion. As a lawyer, statesman and orator he is the peer of any man in the brilliant array of Kentucky's illustrious sons. No one has labored more faithfully or successfully to establish the principles of Republicanism upon a permanent basis in old Bourbon-ridden Kentucky. By the mere force of his courage, aggressiveness and genius he stands to-day the acknowledged leader of the Republican party in the state. What Blaine and Reed have been to Maine, Edmunds to Vermont, Hawley to Connecticut, Phelps to New York, Cameron to Pennsylvania, Sherman and McKinley to Ohio, Harrison to Indiana, Logan, Lincoln and Grant to Illinois, and Allison to Iowa, so has Bradley been to Kentucky.

The present organization, progress and prosperity of Republicanism in Kentucky are due in a great measure to the energy and executive ability of Mr. Bradley, who has beyond doubt performed more labor and received less reward than any other Republican in the state. As a delegate for the state at large in the last four Republican National Conventions he wielded by the power of his logic and the grace of his eloquence a most potent influence in the council halls of those great and deliberative bodies, gaining for himself at once, as if by magic, a National reputation. His speech at Chicago, in 1890, in responding to the great speech of Senator Conkling, in the nomination of General Grant, was a spontaneous outburst of eloquence which elicited the applause of thousands. He has from time to time preserved the organization of the party intact in his own Congressional District, against overwhelming odds.

Noble, generous, chivalrous, without a stain upon his character or a blot upon his escutcheon, there is no one more worthy to wear the mantle of the immortal Henry Clay than the young silver-tongued orator of Kentucky. He is known, loved and idolized by the Republicans from the Cumberland Mountains to "La Belle Riviere," from the Big Sandy to "The Purchase." His nomination will infuse a spirit of enthusiasm in the breasts of the honest and tax-burdened yeomen of our state, who are ardently longing for deliverance from the thralldom and galling yoke of Democratic mismanagement.

Don't forget the strawberry supper given by the young ladies of the Episcopal Church this evening. Colonel Simon N. Meyer has generously tendered the use of one of his houses on East elected Treasurer of the Southern Baptist Convention, which adjourned at Dallas, Tex., yesterday.

thirty-two years.

The work of sodding alongside the First Presbyterian Church is progressing.
If they hurry up, they may be able to get the sod from next year's crop.

The Oddfellows have bought the undivided interest of Henry Slitts in the property occupied by Anthony Weiland and Philip Wheeler, Market street.

Robert E. Cox of Newport and Miss Maria Esther Paul of Covington were married yesterday by Rev. Jacob Miller at his residence on East Fourth street.

Pretty Pearl Pangburn of Dayton stole away from her parents Monday afternoon, and when they heard of her again it was as Mrs. Harry Rader. She is 19.

Colonel Milton Young has bought of Louis and Gus Straus of Lexington the bay two-year-old colt, Ashland, by Strathmore, dam Kanawha. Price $5,000.

Mr. McCleary has introduced a bill in the House to increase the limit of the cost of the Public Building at Richmond to $100,000. This means an increase over the original appropriation of $25,000.

The frescoing of the M. E. Church is complete and beautiful. The committee in charge displayed rare good taste in the selection of the design, and the contractor, John T. Carnahan, has reason to be proud of the work.

Two C. and O. passenger trains collided at Russell Monday evening. The crews of both engines jumped and escaped being killed. The passengers were shaken up, and some received slight bruises. The engineer of one train claimed that the air brakes refused to work.

A pig was born on the farm of G. P.

has eight well developed legs and feet, two tails, a fully developed head and a second one partially so. If it wasn't for the man's name we might believe a part of the story—as much as the fact that the pig was born, leaving off some of the tail.

Here's the Dog Story For You.

A citizen of Hawesville owns a faithful companion in the shape of a dog, which has followed him closely on all occasions.
Lately the owner has joined the church, and the haunts that once knew him are known by him no more. When the master is in church the dog is in a barroom, which, of course, creates suspicion. The dog is for sale.

QUESTION OF DIVIDENDS.

M. and L. Turnpike Co. Fails to Comply With the Law.

Following is the report of State Inspector Gardner, who had been directed to investigate the affairs of the Maysville and Lexington Turnpike Road Company, who have failed to comply with the law in making dividends:

To His Excellency, John Young Brown, Governor of Kentucky—Sir: As directed by you, I have the honor to report that I examined the report made by the Treasurer of the Maysville and Lexington Turnpike Road Company to the Auditor of Public Accounts from the year 1887 to 1893, inclusive, and respectfully submit the following statement:

January 1st, 1888, the Treasurer's report shows a balance in his hands, $6,- 986 74, and no dividends declared; January 1st, 1889, balance, $13,507 38, and 14 per cent. dividend declared; January 1st, 1890, balance $7,702 82, and no dividend declared; January 1st, 1891, balance $9,- 970 32, and 1 per cent. dividend declared; January 1st, 1892, balance $15,478 87, and 1 per cent. dividend declared; January 1st, 1893, balance $15,056 88, and 3
per cent. dividend declared; January 1st, 1894, balance $14,756 18, and 2 per cent. dividend declared.

The dividend declared in 1888 was paid April 3d, 1889; for 1890 was paid April 14th, 1892; for 1891, was paid April 14th, 1892; for 1892, was paid April 14th and 20th, 1892, and for 1893, has not been paid.

Chapter 259, section 14, page 1,410, acts 1891-'92-'93, provides that the Directors of all turnpike road companies, in which the state is a stockholder, shall within the months of January and July in each year make and declare a dividend of profits of such road, if any, and pay the same into the State Treasury twenty days thereafter.

This law is a re-enactment of the old law.

I know of no reason for such a large balance being held by the Treasurer, as he reports no debt against the road.

In 1887 the repairs cost $13,516 52; 1888, $8,992 51; 1889, $13,416 85; 1890, $12,312 24; 1891, $10,539 45; 1892, $10,- 685 90; 1893, $12,447 05.

Colonel W. W. Baldwin is the President and Superintendent of the road, and is paid a salary of $1,400 per year as Superintendent. Respectfully,

W. H. GARDNER,

State Inspector and Examiner.

Remarks.—Mr. Gardner's report is misleading. Take the figures for 1894, for example. He says the balance cash in hands of Treasurer is $14,756 18. This is the total, it is true; but of this sum $4,- 393 65 is to the credit of stockholders who have not called for their dividends.
Besides, out of the remaining $10,362 53 a dividend of 2 per cent. was declared on 3,874 shares in April of this year, which further lessens the cash on hand by $7,748, which has also passed to credit of stockholders, and reduces the actual amount in hands of Treasurer belonging to the company to $2,614 53, instead of $14,756 18 as shown by Mr.
Gardner's report.—ED. LEDGER.
